SOUNDERS FC GAME NOTES

SEATTLE FALLS TO NASHVILLE SC

Sounders FC fell 1-0 to Nashville SC to open its 2022 MLS campaign on February 27 at Lumen Field. Nashville's Aníbal Godoy scored the definitive goal for the visitors, as Sounders FC is now 8-6-0 all-time in regular-season openers.

Despite both sides creating a number of chances, the match remained scoreless until the 80th minute. A short clearance fell right to the feet of Nashville's Randall Leal, who delivered a low cross from the right flank that found Godoy, who was able to finish it over a diving Stefan Frei for the game-winning score. It was the first time the two clubs have faced each other, with 2020 expansion side Nashville SC joining the Western Conference this year after starting in the Eastern Conference for its first two seasons in MLS.

MATCH NOTES

- Sounders FC is now 1-1-1 across all competitions this season, with a plusfour goal differential (5-1).
- Head Coach Brian Schmetzer is now 3-3-0 in MLS season openers.
- Sam Adeniran started up top in place of the injured Raúl Ruidíaz. Adeniran, who played for Tacoma Defiance last season, made two appearances (one start) in 2021 with the First Team via Extreme Hardship.
- 2021 MLS MVP finalist João Paulo made his first start of 2022. Cristian Roldan moved to the wing for the match, with Albert Rusnák slotting in at the attacking midfielder role. Nico Lodeiro came on as a halftime substitute.
- 16-year-old Obed Vargas made his third start in as many games (across all competitions) in 2022. The Sounders FC Academy product also was selected to the starting XI for both legs of the club's Scotiabank Concacaf Champions League Round of 16 matchup with F.C. Motagua.

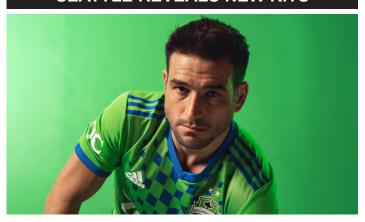

SCCL DATE CHANGE

Sounders FC's second leg of the 2022 Scotiabank Concacaf Champions League Quarterfinals at Liga MX side Club León has been moved to Thursday, March 17 at 5:30 p.m. PT at Estadio León. The match was previously scheduled for Tuesday, March 15, following the first leg in Seattle which remains set for Tuesday, March 8 at 7:00 p.m. PT.

The Rave Green defeated F.C. Motagua 5-0 on aggregate in Round of 16 action to advance to the Quarterfinals, while Club León defeated its Round of 16 opponent C.D. Guastatoya by a 3-0 aggregate score. The two sides have recent history, with Sounders FC facing the Mexican club in the 2021 Leagues Cup Final in Las Vegas that saw a narrow 3-2 Léon victory.

Seattle is competing in its seventh Concacaf Champions League tournament, which crowns the best team from North America, Central America and the Caribbean. Including this year, Sounders FC has advanced to at least the Quarterfinals in five of its seven appearances, including a run to the Semifinals in 2012-2013.

SEATTLE REVEALS NEW KITS

On February 15, Seattle Sounders FC, in conjunction with Major League Soccer and adidas, introduced its newest Rave Green kit, Legacy Green, which serves as the team's primary jersey for the 2022 and 2023 MLS seasons. The uniform is designed with a bold color palette and even bolder pattern, representing a club that has been built upon the culture of an active relationship with its fans and the community since the days long before entering MLS play. The jersey is currently available at Sounders FC Pro Shops and at will be available at MLSstore.com later this morning.

Legacy Green's striking splash of interconnected blue diamonds down its Rave Green front is the most immediately noticeable element of the kit – an energetic design that embraces the full confidence of a club with the winningest record in MLS over the last decade – but holds a deeper meaning. The pattern represents the connection between the club's players and its fans, both stretching back to the birth of the Sounders name in 1974 and reaching forward indefinitely into the future.

The color palette of Legacy Green shines with added vibrancy, a nod to the history of Eternal Blue, Forever Green while paving the way for an even brighter future.

The jersey's jock tag and back neck transfer are also unique to Legacy Green. The jock tag reads '74, paying homage to the roots of Sounders FC in the North American Soccer League, commemorating the first year of the Seattle Sounders. The club celebrates its 50th anniversary in 2024, and this reminder on Legacy Green of when it all started helps bring the club to the doorstep of that significant year.

The neck transfer features waves of progress, an illustration representing the waters of the Puget Sound and the constant motion, like the water, and forward progress that Sounders FC embraces.

The team's crest features its two silver stars: permanent recognition of the club's 2016 and 2019 MLS Cup championships and a reminder to play for a third title.

Also appearing on the jersey's right sleeve is the logo of the Puyallup Tribe's Emerald Queen Casino. Sounders FC last year signed a multi-year partnership with the tribe and EQC that was comprised of multiple elements and highlighted by logo placement on Seattle's primary and secondary jerseys, including a strong community-based component. The club proudly wears its affiliation with the Puyallup Tribe as a way to honor the Puyallup peoples' enduring influence on the region Sounders FC calls home.

The Jimi Hendrix Kit, introduced last season, remains Sounders FC's secondary option in 2022. The dynamic purple, orange and yellow uniform was inspired by Seattle native Jimi Hendrix's love of color and psychedelic patterns. The design is part of MLS and adidas' Community Kit line, introduced last year to allow clubs the opportunity to create secondary kits rooted in individual meaning for each team. The Jimi Hendrix Kit was conceived as a way for Sounders FC to not only honor Hendrix and his place as a Seattle icon, but, on a larger scale, to recognize and celebrate the meaningful principles of peace, love and giving for which Hendrix stood.

Zulily enters its fourth year as Sounders FC's jersey partner in 2022, following an inaugural season in 2019 that saw the team claim its second MLS Cup championship.

Seattle Sounders FC announced on February 25 its complete regional broadcast details for the 2022 Major League Soccer season. Fans of the club can continue to follow the Rave Green through one of the most diverse slates in Major League Soccer, as Seattle maintains its relationships with all of its existing regional television, streaming and radio partners.

In regional television, the club's home remains FOX 13 (KCPQ Channel 13) and FOX 13+ (KZJO cable 10 / Channel 22), seeing FOX 13+ return as the primary television home for regional broadcasts of the Rave Green throughout Western Washington for the fifth straight season. All home and away Sounders FC matches for non-nationally televised broadcasts are available to in-market fans, with FOX 13 carrying four contests and FOX 13+ carrying the remainder of the schedule. FOX 13 and FOX 13+ continue to provide both a 30-minute pre-match show and 30-minute post-match wrap-up following each game.

FOX 13 is also carrying several Sounders FC specials during the 2022 season, including a Sounders FC Matchday program airing on FOX 13+ at 4:00 p.m. PT Sunday, February 27 ahead of the club's opening MLS Regular Season match vs. Nashville SC. Additionally, FOX 13 is profiling the team during its weekly Seattle Sports Live sportscast, which airs Sundays at 11:00 p.m. PT on KCPQ following the flagship FOX 13 News at 10. Dating back to the first year of the partnership between the Rave Green and KCPQ in 2014, Sounders FC's regional broadcast ratings have led Major League Soccer each season, a hallmark of the continuing relationship between the two organizations.

Prime Video continues as Seattle's official video streaming home in 2022, following a landmark agreement in 2020 that saw Sounders FC become the first professional soccer club to team up with the streaming service, as well as just the second sports franchise for which Prime Video secured regional broadcast rights (following Major League Baseball's New York Yankees).

Prime Video is the exclusive streaming destination for the Rave Green, with all regionally televised Sounders FC MLS matches available on Prime Video to fans with a Prime membership throughout the entire state of Washington at no additional cost. Sounders FC's regional broadcast territory extends throughout the entirety of Washington State – inclusive of the traditional Seattle-Tacoma-Everett television DMA and key population centers like Spokane, Yakima, Tri-Cities and Vancouver, Washington – allowing fans everywhere in the Evergreen State the opportunity to watch the Rave Green via Prime Video. Stream from the web or using the Prime Video app on your smartphone, tablet, set-top box, game console, or select smart TV.

New in 2022, fans accessing Sounders FC matches through Prime Video can watch the games in native 1080p / full HD resolution streaming content, the highest standard in the broadcasting and streaming industry.

Additionally, fans accessing the Rave Green through Prime Video can find club-specific content available via the dedicated Sounders FC team page, which houses live and archived regional Sounders FC matches, highlights, player interviews, press conferences and more.

Keith Costigan, Kasey Keller and Steve Zakuani all return to the booth in 2022, reprising their roles from past seasons. In his seventh year with Sounders FC, Costigan is once again set to call regional matches for the Rave Green, while maintaining his national duties with FOX Sports. Former MLS Sounders Keller and Zakuani return to their analyst duties, as the former United States Men's National Team goalkeeper and the 2009 first overall SuperDraft selection are set to work alongside a choice selection of rotating pre-match, halftime and post-match talent. Among this group are former Sounders Brad Evans, Marcus Hahnemann, James Riley and Lamar Neagle, as well as fan favorite and former FOX 13 sports reporter Michelle Ludkta, who returns this season to host home match coverage.

In radio, Sounders FC continues its flagship partnership with iHeartMedia Seattle for the fifth-consecutive season. All home and away Sounders FC MLS matches are being carried on Sports Radio 950 KJR AM or 1090 KJR AM, including a dedicated 30-minute pregame and 30-minute postgame show surrounding each contest. Additionally, the station is continuing its hour-long Sounders Weekly program, hosted by Jackson Felts and airing at 7:00 p.m. PT every Tuesday evening throughout the season, while Head Coach Brian Schmetzer joins Dave "Softy" Mahler and Dick Fain every Tuesday evening live at 5:45 p.m. PT.

"We couldn't be prouder to continue bringing Sounders FC fans yet another season of club programming on Sports Radio KJR," said Rich Moore, Senior Vice President of Programming for iHeartMedia Seattle. "The Rave Green's supporters are unmatched in their passion for the club, and we're excited for them to continue listening to all the action on 950 KJR AM, 1090 KJR AM and the iHeartRadio App."

Introduced last season and continuing in 2022, match action audio for regionally televised games is being simulcast between television and radio, with radio listeners able to take advantage of the exceptional crew that the Rave Green has in Costigan, Keller and Zakuani. For nationally televised matches, the trio is calling Sounders FC games exclusively for the radio broadcast. As mentioned above, dedicated pregame and postgame shows continue to bracket every radio broadcast, with Jackson Felts leading those efforts and working alongside Pete Fewing, Danny Jackson and Diego Arrioja.

The club also continues its partnership with El Rey 1360 AM as the Spanish-language home for Sounders FC matches in 2022. With play-by-play voice "Zuper" Mario Rodríguez alongside Carlos Tapia and Felipe Maqueda on the call, El Rey 1360 AM is set to carry all 34 Sounders FC matches during the 2022 regular season. El Rey 1360 AM also offers 30-minute pre-match and post-match shows as part of its matchday coverage, as well as a 30-minute weekly radio show, Somos Sounders FC. The latter is hosted by Felipe Maqueda, and he is joined by Carolina Antipolo, Carlos Tapia and Marlo Vilela, airing Saturday mornings at 10:30 a.m. PT

In addition, Sounders FC is in active conversations with longtime partner Univision-Seattle (KUNS-TV) to air a select number of match broadcasts and Sounders FC Fútbol en Vivo programs throughout the year. More information will be released in the coming weeks.

SOUNDERS FC ANNOUNCES NEW TRAINING CENTER AT LONGACRES

In a landmark announcement, Seattle Sounders FC revealed on February 16 plans for the development of a new state-of-the-art home in Renton, Washington. Located on the site of Boeing's former corporate headquarters at the historic Longacres, the new home of the Rave Green is set to provide a world-class sporting facility for Major League Soccer's winningest team over the past decade, housing the club's entire soccer and business ecosystem for the first time in Sounders FC history.

Known as the Sounders FC Center at Longacres, the club is working in partnership with Seattle-based Unico Properties on the expansive project, with an expected opening in 2024. Inclusive of four full-size training pitches and 50,000 square feet of space for both the club's soccer operations and front office personnel, the facility ushers in a new era for Sounders FC as the club readies for its 50th anniversary in two years' time. Since entering MLS in 2009, the club has trained at Starfire Sports in Tukwila. The announcement was revealed earlier today at the club's new Longacres home in front of assembled media, with representatives from Sounders FC and Unico appearing alongside King County Executive Dow Constantine and Renton Mayor Armondo Pavone.

As part of the club's March to the 50th - Sounders FC's official celebration of its 50th anniversary in 2024 - the Rave Green also announced plans to recognize its heritage and vision for the future during today's proceedings. Sounders FC's fans are at the heart of everything the club does - from the original naming of the organization to voting on the team's General Manager every four years – and over the coming weeks, fan outreach is taking place to explore the club's brand identity with the next 50 years in mind. Fully grounded in the club's ethos of Democracy in Sports, further details of this process are outlined below.

"Today is one of the most important moments in our club's history, as we begin this new partnership with Unico Properties and take our first steps into the future of Seattle Sounders FC," said Sounders FC Majority Owner Adrian Hanauer. "Our organization has invested a great deal of time and thoughtfulness into the process of both selecting the ideal site for a new home and reimagining what that home represents, for our team and the greater community. With Longacres, we've found a location brimming with Pacific Northwest history where the Sounders – a team that brings its own deep roots, growing since 1974 – can plant our flag and create a home for our next 50 years. We're excited to work with terrific partners in Unico and the City of Renton as this project comes to life, and our club fully embraces the stewardship of managing an important historical site like Longacres."

Hanauer continues, "I would also like to thank Starfire Sports and the City of Tukwila. Sounders FC has always been a community club, and, over the years, that has been exemplified by team's place at Starfire, a true hub and gathering place for soccer in our region. We're grateful to Starfire – and the welcoming spirit of Tukwila – for serving as the home of the Rave Green and seeing us through some incredible successes. While the time has come for Sounders FC to move into its own facility, Starfire Sports and Tukwila will always be close to our hearts and a part of our history."

"We are excited by the opportunity to anchor this storied property with the Seattle Sounders," said Unico Properties Chief Investment Officer Ned Carner. "We could not be more excited to partner with a group like the Sounders that shares in our mission to create a project that builds up the surrounding community, while also enhancing the lives of the people that choose to live and work at Longacres for years to come."

As part of the club's commitment to sustainability within Sounders FC's Social Justice Framework, best-in-class environmentally friendly building systems and infrastructure are being utilized throughout the Sounders FC Center at Longacres. The design process is headed by Kansas City-based Generator Studio, a leading firm in the sports design and architecture world. Recently, Generator oversaw the creation of the Seattle Kraken's Community Iceplex in Northgate, in addition to recent projects for the NWSL's Kansas City Current, the Tampa Bay Lightning and St. Louis Blues of the NHL, along with the NBA's Brooklyn Nets.

"The Sounders' legacy and fandom is unequaled in MLS, and our office is ready for the challenge of helping the club elevate what a modern MLS training center means," said Generator Studio co-founder Tom Proebstle. "The Sounders FC Center at Longacres will provide space for operations and training to be under one roof, bringing players, staff and community together."

THE $5 () IH

Generator Studio co-founders Proebstle and Mike Kress have been working on Seattle sports venues since 1998, beginning with the design of Lumen Field while at their former architecture firm AECOM. Following their work on Lumen Field,
Proebstle and Kress were instrumental in the design and construction of the Virginia Mason Athletic Center for the NFL's Seattle Seahawks while at Crawford Architects. Since founding Generator Studio, multiple sports projects have culminated in the grand opening of the Kraken Community Iceplex, providing the first sheet of ice in the city of Seattle in modern times.

Central to the combined vision of Sounders FC, Unico and Generator Studio is a team-first design layout that is truly built around the holistic needs of the entire Rave Green organization. In the coming months, further specifics of the design process will be publicly shared, with amenities that showcase Sounders FC's new home as one of the top sporting facilities in North America, and one that allows for deeper connection with the club's fans, supporters and partners.

With 2024 on the horizon, the club is not only opening the Sounders FC Center at Longacres that year, it is also celebrating its 50th anniversary as part of the greater Puget Sound community. A major milestone for the organization, the club's March to the 50th is intended as a two-year rallying cry for both celebrating that unique history while also casting an eye to the future.

Sounders fans named the original 1974 North American Soccer League team, again choosing the same team name in 2008 prior to the club's launch in Major League Soccer, winning by an overwhelming majority via write-in option. Since joining MLS, the club has worked shoulder-to-shoulder with its Alliance Members – as Sounders FC season ticket holders are known – working on everything together from the club's General Manager vote, Alliance Annual Business Meetings and kit designs for the players. This Democracy in Sports ethos runs throughout the entire organization, and as the club prepares for its future and explores its brand and visual identities, Sounders FC is beginning the process of reaching out to its fan base to begin an open dialogue.

MLS Veterans Find Home in Salt Lake City

In addition to the arrival of Cordova, two other new signings bolster the Club's 2022 depth. Prior to the Club's mid-January preseason commencement, RSL signed former New England Revolution MF Scott Caldwell as a free agent. Caldwell, a Massachusetts native, signed with the Revolution as a Homegrown player and played nine seasons in New England. Late in the Club's Portland preseason trip last week, RSL added former Chicago Fire centerback Johan Kappelhof, a 2017 MLS All-Star. The former Netherlands youth international showed comfort, stability and poise during his six seasons with the Fire, emerging as a fan favorite in no small part due to his versatility, appearing in both back-four and back-three setups – something that RSL boss Pablo Mastroeni no doubt likes to alternate throughout the season.

International Network of New Ownership

As RSL's roster takes shape ahead of the earliest opening game in Club history (Sun., Feb. 27 at Houston), the new Claret-and-Cobalt ownership has provided General Manager Elliot Fall and Technical Director Kurt Schmid with a deeper and expanded network to potentially fill the RSL roster. Owner David Blitzer's stake in multiple clubs across Europe (Crystal Palace – ENG; Augsburg – GER; Estoril – POR; ADO den Haag – NED; Alcorcón – SPN; Waasland – BEL) could provide the opportunity for RSL to acquire an array of players with international experience to bolster its roster.

The first such example, arriving to the Wasatch front less than five weeks into the new era. Venezuelan international Sergio Cordova, a forward on loan for 2022 from Augsburg who can play either wing position as well as the #9 up top.

Also, current & future players across the RSL/Monarchs/Academy pyramid could see the opportunity to join those teams in Europe to gain valuable experience similar to Andrew Brody and Pablo Ruiz's Fall 2019 venture to Austria (FC Pinzgau Saalfelden) before returning to RSL and contributing significantly.

First Full Year Under Pablo Mastroeni

Following the team's successful playoff run that saw RSL feature in the 2021 Western Conference Final, RSL boss Pablo Mastroeni saw last year's interim tag removed from his title in December after 100 days at the helm, becoming the sixth official head coach in the Club's 18-year history. Under the former U.S. World Cup star's tenure in 2021, RSL went 8-8-1 during the regular season, advancing RSL to the postseason for the 11th time in the last 14 years. Now in his first full season at the helm, Mastroeni will look to leverage the belief his tight-knit team exhibited in latter half of 2021 to build a Championship trophy-winning culture in Utah.

Homegrown Emergence and Pipeline Growth

Prior to the commencement of 2022 preseason, RSL announced five new additions to its MLS roster – GK Gavin Beavers, MF Julio Benitez, FW Axel Kei, DF Jaziel Orozco & M/F Jude Wellings – all Homegrown players from the RSL Academy, each of whom boast Real Monarchs experience from a season ago. While the Kei signing breaks an 18-year record for youngest MLS signee (Freddy Adu), with Kei signing at 14 years and 15 days old back in mid-January, it is Orozco who is likely the closest to seeing sustained MLS minutes, especially after his scintillatingly solid preseason performances in Tucson and Portland.

RSL has long prided itself on developing talent from within and has seen significant contributions from many of its Homegrown stars. What will the Club see in 2022 from its Homegrown players after it led the league again in minutes played by Homegrown players? Now with experienced Homegrowns such as David Ochoa, Justen Glad, Andrew Brody, Erik Holt and Aaron Herrera, the core of the Homegrown pipeline can lead RSL to new heights following a 2021 season that saw 17 of the 32 players on the roster either developed through the Academy or Real Monarchs.

Fans First

Since Real Salt Lake moved into Rio Tinto Stadium in October, 2008, its fans have provided a dominant home-field advantage – a .771 winning percentage and 2.06 points per game – while helping the Wasatch Front residents to the highest aggregate MLS point total earned during the regular season (409) since leaving Rice-Eccles Stadium. The 2021 season saw RSL set a new Club record with seven consecutive wins at home en route to a 9-4-4 overall mark on Utah soil, solidifying its extreme advantage in Sandy and propelling the team to the top tier of MLS as a perennial postseason participant. RSL's 11 playoff appearances in the last 14 seasons include five Conference Finals and 10 Conference Semifinal berths, second only to Seattle during this period.

For 2022 and beyond, new ownership and Club President John Kimball have committed RSL to expanding the fan experience through all levels of the organization, its venues and its digital presence. Fan support has always been at the center of everything the Club has done and with a new era of RSL beginning in 2022, the Club ensures itself to the fan experience to help maintain its home dominance. Arrive early at Rio Tinto Stadium on March 5 for the 2022 Home Opener to see the first of many steps to modernize the Sandy venue and celebrate all those who "BELIEVE."

STORYLINES

Carrying Momentum

As fans were reminded last season, anything can happen in the MLS Cup Playoffs, and one must never count the Claret-and-Cobalt out. Under then-interim and now-permanent boss Pablo Mastroeni, the team was galvanized at the end of the season to qualify for the playoffs in possibly the most dramatic fashion MLS has ever seen. From the "Damiracle" in Kansas City, a defensive masterclass in Seattle and come-from-behind drama in the return trip to KC, RSL's cardiac collective led MLS is goals scored after the 80th minute and in stoppage-time as well. Momentum in the locker room, in the fanbase and around the country began to bloom ahead of the team's postseason run, defying odds on and off the pitch. The sense of self-belief RSL carried in the closing stages of 2021 is now a stated priority as Mastroeni's culture-building re-engages to help the team kick off this 2022 season on the front foot.

Second-Year Players Looking to Announce Presence in First Full Seasons

RSL made a splash in the spring of 2021, announcing it had secured the services of FW Bobby Wood in a move that saw the former USMNT star join MLS for the first time in his career. Arriving during the summer, Wood featured in 17 matches and made 7 starts, scoring two regular-season goals, adding the clutch game-winner during the West Semis in Kansas City. Wood seeks to mesh with the rest of the squad through the early 2022 season and make an impact for the season's entirety.

On May 29, 2021, RSL announced the signing of winger Jonathan Menéndez to bolster the team's attacking core. In 17 matches played, the versatile Argentine scored one goal and contributed five assists during his first season in MLS. Capable of creative and explosive plays, Menéndez looks to solidify his place within the team in a league in which quick, seamless adaptation has often proven difficult. His advanced 2021 metrics (xG, xGA, etc.) parlay on equal footing to those of former playmaker Albert Rusnák in far fewer minutes; will "Joni Gols" emerge as the primary replacement for Albert's production? will tell.

Homegrown Leadership

The RSL technical staff and front office sees a number of experienced "homegrown" individuals as well, with John Kimball, Rob Zarkos, Elliot Fall, Tony Beltran, Luke Mulholland, Jordan Allen, Nick Rimando, Brian Dunseth and Jamison Olave each holding influential positions with the Club.

These individuals – among many others – helped lead RSL through previous eras in other positions, now looking to build upon the successes of 2021.

New Ownership

On January 5, 2022, Major League Soccer's Board of Governors unanimously approved the sale of Real Salt Lake and the club's associated properties to David Blitzer and Ryan Smith's Smith Entertainment Group (SEG), MLS Commissioner Don Garber announced. Blitzer will serve as Governor for Real Salt Lake with SEG appointed to the alternate Governor role. This transaction includes Rio Tinto Stadium, Zions Bank Training Center, and Zions Bank Stadium and RSL Academy in Herriman, Utah.

Blitzer adds Real Salt Lake as a central piece of an ever-expanding sports and entertainment portfolio, which includes teams in the National Basketball Association, National Hockey League, the English Premier League, and the German Bundesliga. His holdings also include leading sports and entertainment assets such as the Prudential Center and several other sports entities worldwide.

SEG, the investment entity led by Ryan Smith, adds Real Salt Lake to a portfolio that also includes the National Basketball Association's Utah Jazz and associated team properties. SEG is focused on sports, technology and entertainment investment opportunities impacting Utah, and Real Salt Lake is an integral piece of the community that has tremendous alignment with the Utah Jazz.

Blitzer and SEG become the third ownership group in club history, acquiring teams and related properties from Dell Loy Hansen (2013-21), after the club was founded and owned by Dave Checketts (2004-13). The acquisition by Blitzer and Smith includes Real Salt Lake (MLS), Real Monarchs (MLS NEXT Pro), Rio Tinto Stadium and all related soccer assets in both Sandy and Herriman, including the Zions Bank Training Center and Zions Bank Stadium. Blitzer and Smith also obtain ownership of the RSL Academy and its local and regional youth affiliates.

In addition to Blitzer and SEG, Arctos Sports Partners, the first institutional investor focused exclusively on taking minority stakes in professional sports franchises and leagues, joins the Real Salt Lake ownership group as a limited partner. To date, Arctos has made more than 20 investments across the big 5 North American Leagues and European Soccer leagues since its founding in 2019.

2022 MLS TEAM OF THE WEEK

WEEK 1 TBD

LAST MATCH

Real Salt Lake advances to the Western Conference Semifinal Sunday at Kansas City with a dramatic win in six rounds of penalty kicks over Seattle Sounders FC.

Tuesday night's first half at Lumen Field in Seattle saw a battle of the two midfields, as both sides sought to establish dominance and look for open spaces to thread the ball. The first clear opportunity at goal came in the 15th minute when Seattle got what appeared to be a clear chance at goal with David Ochoa pulled out of position, but a block from Justen Gad and then a clearance from Aaron Herrera kept the team out of danger. In the 29th minute, off a free kick, Seattle once again looked to have the easy goal, but a quick reaction and a point-blank block from Ochoa preserved the scoreline. Despite best efforts from both sides, neither team was able to get the upper hand and the first half finished scoreless.

Coming out of the halftime break, Seattle continued to apply pressure in Real Salt Lake's half of the pitch. In the 50th minute, the Sounders found themselves with a three on two advantage on a counter, but Jordan Morris' shot missed high and the sides remained scoreless. Another close scoring opportunity came for the home side in minute 62, but a cross into the box was cleared away by Glad. Then following a pass by Morris near the top of the 18-yard box, Raul Ruidiaz fired a right-footed volley toward goal, but his shot was denied by the top-left corner of the frame in the 73rd minute. In the final chance of regulation, Andrew Brody intercepted a pass by Joao Paolo to spring Real Salt Lake on the counter, but second-half substitute Anderson Julio was unable to catch up to the pass and regulation time ended with neither team able to find the winner.

In the 113th minute the home side were rewarded with a long free kick, but the flicked-on header was saved by Ochoa and after 120 minutes of play, the sides remained scoreless with penalties to decide the winner.

Through the first five rounds of penalties each side scored their respective goals - including a Pablo Ruiz re-take of his saved kick from Seattle GK Stefan Frei, who was adjudged via VAR to be off his line - forcing the shootout tiebreaker to a sixth round. Ochoa got into position as former RSL player Kelyn Rowe stepped up to the PK spot. Rowe sent his shot towards the right corner, the same direction Ochoa dove, blocking the shot. From there it was left in the hands of Glad, who calmly walked up and buried his shot - albeit off BOTH posts - to steal the victory and silence 34,000+ in Seattle.

HEAD COACH PABLO MAESTRONI

Pablo Mastroeni, 45, arrived on the Wasatch Front in February of 2021, assuming the top assistant role on the Real Salt Lake technical staff, following a similar role with Houston Dynamo in 2020. Upon Freddy Juarez' departure in late August, Mastroeni was immediately elevated to the role of interim manager, posting an 8-8-1 mark during all 2021 regular season competitions and leading RSL into its 11th postseason in 14 years as the seventh and final Western Conference Playoff team.

With Mastroeni as manager, in a locker room buoyed by pride, belief and dedication to the group, Real Salt Lake posted a 5-2-0 (Win-Loss-Draw) mark at its Rio Tinto Stadium home in Sandy, and dropped back-to-back games just once, posting a 6-1-0 record in games following losses. Vacillating between 4-2-3-1 and 3-5-2 setups depending on injuries, player availability and opposing setups, RSL scored 55 goals in 2021, its second-highest total ever (2013). This past year, RSL managed 25 road goals scored, also its second-best ever (2013).

In the 2021 Audi MLS Cup Playoffs, Real Salt Lake emerged victorious under Mastroeni's leadership on the road in Seattle during Round One, winning via a thrilling 6-5 shootout tiebreaker following a 0-0 draw after 120 minutes. RSL advanced to face Kansas City in the Western Conference Semifinals, the Club's 10th appearance at that stage in 11 all-time postseason appearances. RSL won 2-1 at Sporting with yet another come-from-behind win, reaching its fifth Western Conference Final at Portland on Dec. 4. Against the MLS Cup runner up Timbers, RSL succumbed 0-2, missing out on what could have been its third MLS Cup berth in 17 seasons since winning Cup in 2009.

As a player, Mastroeni served as a mentor to RSL icon Kyle Beckerman, when both shared the Miami Fusion FC locker room in the late 1990s, and shortly thereafter in Colorado. Mastroeni became a breakout star of the United States' 2002 World Cup Korea/Japan Men's National Team, barely appearing during qualifying to start at centerback against Portugal, Mexico and Germany in the USA's thrilling run to the quarterfinal stage.

Four years later, Mastroeni started each of the first two games for the 2006 USA World Cup side in Germany, against Czech Republic and Italy. All told, the Phoenix, Ariz. native appeared in 65 games for the Stars and Stripes between 2001-09, playing for Bruce Arena and Bob Bradley
