SOUNDERS FC GAME NOTES

SOUNDERS FC WINS 2022 SCCL

Sounders FC defeated Pumas UNAM 3-0 Wednesday evening in the second leg of the 2022 Scotiabank Concacaf Champions League Final, securing a 5-2 aggregate result and becoming the first MLS team to hoist the continental trophy that crowns the best club team in North America, Central America and the Caribbean. After a 2-2 draw in Mexico City last Wednesday, last night's result featured a brace from Raúl Ruidíaz and a goal from Nico Lodeiro to secure the title for Seattle. After recording his fourth shutout of the competition, Goalkeeper Stefan Frei was named Goalkeeper of the Tournament and Player of the Tournament following the match. With the win, Seattle also clinches a spot in the FIFA Club World Cup, where the Rave Green will battle the confederation champions from each global region.

Ruidíaz opened the scoring for the home side in the 45th minute. Albert Rusnák crossed from the left flank that found the feet of Xavier Arreaga, who dropped a pass down to Ruidíaz, whose shot took a deflection off a Pumas defender and bounced into the back of the net. Ruidíaz finished his brace in the 80th minute, finishing off a great team goal. After streaking up the right flank, Jordan Morris found Lodeiro at the top of the area for a deft pass to Ruidíaz before the striker finished his chance at the near post to double the host's lead. Lodeiro sealed the game for Seattle in the 88th minute, finishing a point-blank effort after a Morris shot deflected off the post right to his feet.

MATCH NOTES

- Sounders FC becomes the first MLS side to win a Scotiabank Concacaf Champions League title. Four MLS teams previously had reached the final: Real Salt Lake (2010-2011), CF Montréal (2014-2015), Toronto FC (2018) and LAFC (2020).

- Goalkeeper Stefan Frei recorded his fourth shutout of the competition and was named both Goalkeeper of the Tournament and Player of the Tournament. In eight appearances in 2022 SCCL play, Frei allowed just five goals and recorded 26 saves.

- With his brace, Raúl Ruidíaz finished with three goals in 2022 SCCL play, tied for fourth in the tournament alongside teammates Jordan Morris and Fredy Montero. He has 64 goals in all competitions for the Rave Green since arriving in Seattle during the summer transfer window of 2018. Ruidíaz has now scored against three Liga MX opponents for Sounders FC: Pumas in last night's CCL Final second leg, in addition to Tigres and Santos Laguna in last season's Leagues Cup.

- Nico Lodeiro's 88th minute strike gave him three goals across the two Final legs against Pumas, following his late brace in the first leg in Mexico City. Seattle's captain finished the tournament with five goals, second behind only Pumas' Juan Dinenno, who led the competitions with nine goals. He also finished tied for fifth with two assists in the tournament.

- Sounders FC is now 8-9-4 all-time against Liga MX opponents in SCCL and Leagues Cup play.

- Despite not recording one on Wednesday, Cristian Roldan led the 2022 SCCL tournament with five assists.

- This marks the eighth major trophy Sounders FC has won since entering MLS in 2009: four Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cups (2009-2011, 2014), one Supporters' Shield (2014), two MLS Cups (2016, 2019) and one Concacaf Champions League (2022).

SEATTLE FANS BREAK SCCL RECORD

Wednesday's sellout crowd of 68,741 broke the all-time Concacaf Champions League Final attendance record for a standalone match. The Seattle fans that packed Lumen Field surpassed the crowd of 66,208 that watched the 2014-2015 Semifinal second leg between Club América and Herediano at Estadio Azteca.

The Lumen Field crowd was also the largest of the 2022 Champions League tournament, breaking the mark of 56,094 set during the second leg of the Semifinals between Cruz Azul and Pumas, also at Estadio Azteca.

Wednesday's attendance was the second-highest in Sounders FC history, coming in just behind the 69,274 that watched the Rave Green claim the 2019 MLS Cup on home turf. It marked the ninth time over 60,000 fans have packed Lumen Field for a Sounders FC match, with the club going 8-0-1 in those games.

SEATTLE RECALLS DOBBELAERE

Sounders FC has recalled midfielder Ethan Dobbelaere from his loan with MFK Vyškov, and is eligible for selection for Saturday's match against FC Dallas. The 19-year-old was loaned to the Czech second division club on February 5 of this year.

Dobbelaere, 19, signed a First Team contract in June of 2020 and has appeared in eight career matches for Sounders FC, including seven in 2021. Prior to joining the First Team, the Seattle native came up through Sounders FC Academy and was a part of the U-17 team that won the USDDA National Championship in 2018, as well as a Generation Adidas Cup title in both the Premier and Champions Division. He was one of three Sounders FC players (Danny Leyva, Alfonso Ocampo-Chavez) to make the roster for 2019 FIFA U-17 World Cup, making a substitute appearance against Senegal and earning a start against the Netherlands.

DEFIANCE DEFEATS DYNAMO 2

Tacoma Defiance (2-2-2, 9 points) defeated Houston Dynamo 2 (5-1-0, 15 points) 4-1 on May 1 at Starfire Stadium. Abdoulaye Cissoko scored his first goals of the season while Alfonso Ocampo-Chavez bagged his sixth of the year to claim all three points.

Tacoma opened the scoring in the 26th minute courtesy of Cissoko, who found the ball at his feet after a deflected set piece and smashed it into the top of the net.

Ocampo-Chavez found the back of the net in the 52nd minute, sliding to make contact on a low cross sent in by Joe Hafferty from the right flank for his league-leading sixth strike of the year. Cissoko completed his brace from the spot, converting a penalty in the 74th minute after substitute Marlon Vargas drew a hard foul inside the area. The brace marked Cissoko's first goals of the year for Tacoma.

Houston got one back in the 80th minute via Papa N'Doye, who recorded his third goal of the year. Tacoma added one more in second half stoppage time when Valentin Sabella streaked down the left flank on a breakaway, slotting the ball into the net to seal the victory.

RAVE GREEN ANNOUNCE 2022 BROADCAST SCHEDULE

Seattle Sounders FC announced on February 25 its complete regional broadcast details for the 2022 Major League Soccer season. Fans of the club can continue to follow the Rave Green through one of the most diverse slates in Major League Soccer, as Seattle maintains its relationships with all of its existing regional television, streaming and radio partners.

In regional television, the club's home remains FOX 13 (KCPQ Channel 13) and FOX 13+ (KZJO cable 10 / Channel 22), seeing FOX 13+ return as the primary television home for regional broadcasts of the Rave Green throughout Western Washington for the fifth straight season. All home and away Sounders FC matches for non-nationally televised broadcasts are available to in-market fans, with FOX 13 carrying four contests and FOX 13+ carrying the remainder of the schedule. FOX 13 and FOX 13+ continue to provide both a 30-minute pre-match show and 30-minute post-match wrap-up following each game.

FOX 13 is also carrying several Sounders FC specials during the 2022 season, including a Sounders FC Matchday program airing on FOX 13+ at 4:00 p.m. PT Sunday, February 27 ahead of the club's opening MLS Regular Season match vs. Nashville SC. Additionally, FOX 13 is profiling the team during its weekly Seattle Sports Live sportscast, which airs Sundays at 11:00 p.m. PT on KCPQ following the flagship FOX 13 News at 10. Dating back to the first year of the partnership between the Rave Green and KCPQ in 2014, Sounders FC's regional broadcast ratings have led Major League Soccer each season, a hallmark of the continuing relationship between the two organizations.

Prime Video continues as Seattle's official video streaming home in 2022, following a landmark agreement in 2020 that saw Sounders FC become the first professional soccer club to team up with the streaming service, as well as just the second sports franchise for which Prime Video secured regional broadcast rights (following Major League Baseball's New York Yankees).

Prime Video is the exclusive streaming destination for the Rave Green, with all regionally televised Sounders FC MLS matches available on Prime Video to fans with a Prime membership throughout the entire state of Washington at no additional cost. Sounders FC's regional broadcast territory extends throughout the entirety of Washington State – inclusive of the traditional Seattle-Tacoma-Everett television DMA and key population centers like Spokane, Yakima, Tri-Cities and Vancouver, Washington – allowing fans everywhere in the Evergreen State the opportunity to watch the Rave Green via Prime Video. Stream from the web or using the Prime Video app on your smartphone, tablet, set-top box, game console, or select smart TV.

New in 2022, fans accessing Sounders FC matches through Prime Video can watch the games in native 1080p / full HD resolution streaming content, the highest standard in the broadcasting and streaming industry.

Additionally, fans accessing the Rave Green through Prime Video can find club-specific content available via the dedicated Sounders FC team page, which houses live and archived regional Sounders FC matches, highlights, player interviews, press conferences and more.

Keith Costigan, Kasey Keller and Steve Zakuani all return to the booth in 2022, reprising their roles from past seasons. In his seventh year with Sounders FC, Costigan is once again set to call regional matches for the Rave Green, while maintaining his national duties with FOX Sports. Former MLS Sounders Keller and Zakuani return to their analyst duties, as the former United States Men's National Team goalkeeper and the 2009 first overall SuperDraft selection are set to work alongside a choice selection of rotating pre-match, halftime and post-match talent. Among this group are former Sounders Brad Evans, Marcus Hahnemann, James Riley and Lamar Neagle, as well as fan favorite and former FOX 13 sports reporter Michelle Ludkta, who returns this season to host home match coverage.

In radio, Sounders FC continues its flagship partnership with iHeartMedia Seattle for the fifth-consecutive season. All home and away Sounders FC MLS matches are being carried on Sports Radio 950 KJR AM or 1090 KJR AM, including a dedicated 30-minute pregame and 30-minute postgame show surrounding each contest. Additionally, the station is continuing its hour-long Sounders Weekly program, hosted by Jackson Felts and airing at 7:00 p.m. PT every Tuesday evening throughout the season, while Head Coach Brian Schmetzer joins Dave "Softy" Mahler and Dick Fain every Tuesday evening live at 5:45 p.m. PT.

"We couldn't be prouder to continue bringing Sounders FC fans yet another season of club programming on Sports Radio KJR," said Rich Moore, Senior Vice President of Programming for iHeartMedia Seattle. "The Rave Green's supporters are unmatched in their passion for the club, and we're excited for them to continue listening to all the action on 950 KJR AM, 1090 KJR AM and the iHeartRadio App."

Introduced last season and continuing in 2022, match action audio for regionally televised games is being simulcast between television and radio, with radio listeners able to take advantage of the exceptional crew that the Rave Green has in Costigan, Keller and Zakuani. For nationally televised matches, the trio is calling Sounders FC games exclusively for the radio broadcast. As mentioned above, dedicated pregame and postgame shows continue to bracket every radio broadcast, with Jackson Felts leading those efforts and working alongside Pete Fewing, Danny Jackson and Diego Arriola.

The club also continues its partnership with El Rey 1360 AM as the Spanish-language home for Sounders FC matches in 2022. With play-by-play voice "Zuper" Mario Rodríguez alongside Carlos Tapia and Felipe Maqueda on the call, El Rey 1360 AM is set to carry all 34 Sounders FC matches during the 2022 regular season. El Rey 1360 AM also offers 30-minute pre-match and post-match shows as part of its matchday coverage, as well as a 30-minute weekly radio show, Somos Sounders FC. The latter is hosted by Felipe Maqueda, and he is joined by Carolina Antipolo, Carlos Tapia and Marlo Vilela, airing Saturday mornings at 10:30 a.m. PT.

In addition, Sounders FC is in active conversations with longtime partner Univision-Seattle (KUNS-TV) to air a select number of match broadcasts and Sounders FC Fútbol en Vivo programs throughout the year. More information will be released in the coming weeks.

SOUNDERS FC GAME NOTES

SOUNDERS FC ANNOUNCES NEW TRAINING CENTER AT LONGACRES

In a landmark announcement, Seattle Sounders FC revealed on February 16 plans for the development of a new state-of-the-art home in Renton, Washington. Located on the site of Boeing's former corporate headquarters at the historic Longacres, the new home of the Rave Green is set to provide a world-class sporting facility for Major League Soccer's winningest team over the past decade, housing the club's entire soccer and business ecosystem for the first time in Sounders FC history.

Known as the Sounders FC Center at Longacres, the club is working in partnership with Seattle-based Unico Properties on the expansive project, with an expected opening in 2024. Inclusive of four full-size training pitches and 50,000 square feet of space for both the club's soccer operations and front office personnel, the facility ushers in a new era for Sounders FC as the club readies for its 50th anniversary in two years' time. Since entering MLS in 2009, the club has trained at Starfire Sports in Tukwila. The announcement was revealed earlier today at the club's new Longacres home in front of assembled media, with representatives from Sounders FC and Unico appearing alongside King County Executive Dow Constantine and Renton Mayor Armondo Pavone.

As part of the club's March to the 50th – Sounders FC's official celebration of its 50th anniversary in 2024 – the Rave Green also announced plans to recognize its heritage and vision for the future during today's proceedings. Sounders FC's fans are at the heart of everything the club does – from the original naming of the organization to voting on the team's General Manager every four years – and over the coming weeks, fan outreach is taking place to explore the club's brand identity with the next 50 years in mind. Fully grounded in the club's ethos of Democracy in Sports, further details of this process are outlined below.

"Today is one of the most important moments in our club's history, as we begin this new partnership with Unico Properties and take our first steps into the future of Seattle Sounders FC," said Sounders FC Majority Owner Adrian Hanauer. "Our organization has invested a great deal of time and thoughtfulness into the process of both selecting the ideal site for a new home and reimagining what that home represents, for our team and the greater community. With Longacres, we've found a location brimming with Pacific Northwest history where the Sounders – a team that brings its own deep roots, growing since 1974 – can plant our flag and create a home for our next 50 years. We're excited to work with terrific partners in Unico and the City of Renton as this project comes to life, and our club fully embraces the stewardship of managing an important historical site like Longacres."

Hanauer continues, "I would also like to thank Starfire Sports and the City of Tukwila. Sounders FC has always been a community club, and, over the years, that has been exemplified by team's place at Starfire, a true hub and gathering place for soccer in our region. We're grateful to Starfire – and the welcoming spirit of Tukwila – for serving as the home of the Rave Green and seeing us through some incredible successes. While the time has come for Sounders FC to move into its own facility, Starfire Sports and Tukwila will always be close to our hearts and a part of our history."

"We are excited by the opportunity to anchor this storied property with the Seattle Sounders," said Unico Properties Chief Investment Officer Ned Carner. "We could not be more excited to partner with a group like the Sounders that shares in our mission to create a project that builds up the surrounding community, while also enhancing the lives of the people that choose to live and work at Longacres for years to come."

As part of the club's commitment to sustainability within Sounders FC's Social Justice Framework, best-in-class environmentally friendly building systems and infrastructure are being utilized throughout the Sounders FC Center at Longacres. The design process is headed by Kansas City-based Generator Studio, a leading firm in the sports design and architecture world. Recently, Generator oversaw the creation of the Seattle Kraken's Community Iceplex in Northgate, in addition to recent projects for the NWSL's Kansas City Current, the Tampa Bay Lightning and St. Louis Blues of the NHL, along with the NBA's Brooklyn Nets.

"The Sounders' legacy and fandom is unequalled in MLS, and our office is ready for the challenge of helping the club elevate what a modern MLS training center means," said Generator Studio co-founder Tom Proebstle. "The Sounders FC Center at Longacres will provide space for operations and training to be under one roof, bringing players, staff and community together."

Generator Studio co-founders Proebstle and Mike Kress have been working on Seattle sports venues since 1998, beginning with the design of Lumen Field while at their former architecture firm AECOM. Following their work on Lumen Field, Proebstle and Kress were instrumental in the design and construction of the Virginia Mason Athletic Center for the NFL's Seattle Seahawks while at Crawford Architects. Since founding Generator Studio, multiple sports projects have culminated in the grand opening of the Kraken Community Iceplex, providing the first sheet of ice in the city of Seattle in modern times.

Central to the combined vision of Sounders FC, Unico and Generator Studio is a team-first design layout that is truly built around the holistic needs of the entire Rave Green organization. In the coming months, further specifics of the design process will be publicly shared, with amenities that showcase Sounders FC's new home as one of the top sporting facilities in North America, and one that allows for deeper connection with the club's fans, supporters and partners.

With 2024 on the horizon, the club is not only opening the Sounders FC Center at Longacres that year, it is also celebrating its 50th anniversary as part of the greater Puget Sound community. A major milestone for the organization, the club's March to the 50th is intended as a two-year rallying cry for both celebrating that unique history while also casting an eye to the future.

Sounders fans named the original 1974 North American Soccer League team, again choosing the same team name in 2008 prior to the club's launch in Major League Soccer, winning by an overwhelming majority via write-in option. Since joining MLS, the club has worked shoulder-to-shoulder with its Alliance Members – as Sounders FC season ticket holders are known – working on everything together from the club's General Manager vote, Alliance Annual Business Meetings and kit designs for the players. This Democracy in Sports ethos runs throughout the entire organization, and as the club prepares for its future and explores its brand and visual identities, Sounders FC is beginning the process of reaching out to its fan base to begin an open dialogue.
