LAFC VS. ATL United

JOHN MCCARTHY
LAFC GOALKEEPER

RE: Bounce back Game

“Yeah, I think we wish we should've won but it was good to get back out there and I think we had a ton of chances on a different day maybe they fall in, just a part of the game. Thoughts on Atlanta Goalkeeper He had a good game. He had a great game. There is nothing you can't. He made some saves and then he made some extra saves. He had a really good game and I think everyone knows that and he was the reason why they got the result. I said good game. That's all I can say. He's a veteran guy apparently for a year. He had a great game”

RE: Thoughts on upcoming Texas

“We have a lot of games coming up and I think you know that one game at a time and I think that's where we have to be. We can't look past this weekend. Obviously, we know that we have them back to back and stuff like that. We have to go to Houston with the idea to get a great result so that's where it's at. It doesn't matter whether it's 90 degrees or 60 degrees, both teams got to play in.”

RE: Group frustration post CCL and tonight

“Yeah I mean today is one of those days where I answer them and the goalkeeper had a great game. That's just part of the game. I think on another day maybe 1 or 2 go in and we walk out of here and everyone is dancing and happy as can be. But we're not frustrated. We're not upset by any means. It's part of the game, you have ups, you have downs and yeah, the final sucks but the final is what 4 or 5 days ago now? You can't do anything about it so all we're going to need to worry about now is Houston.”

RE: Defense with no shots on goal

“Yeah I think they had 1 or 2 chances right around the top of the box and one late in the second half. I try to just be ready and mentally prepared that one chance is going to come. Just try to make the most of that one chance when it does come, hopefully I keep it out, but I'll take days like this for me personally anytime. Clean sheet and you kind of just have to be mentally locked in for 90 minutes and get through the game.”
