RE: How to handle momentum moving into game two

“This momentum carries forward, but you have to turn the page. By 8 or 9 to nothing you still have to go down there [Vancouver] play 0-0 and if you lose then the series is still 1-1. So yes, you take the positive and take the momentum with you. But at the end of the day the page has to be turned and focus on a brand-new game next week.

RE: Vancouver scoring goals on defensive mistakes

“In the season sometimes, you can get away with those but in the playoffs no chance. Tonight, we were able to score more than them. Going forward we need to be really good on the ball because the chances they had ended up in back of the net. We did really well second half. They had two crosses that Giorgio clears and rest we had a good covering behind. We have to tidy up these details moving forward.”
